AN INTERESTING CONDITION

Law that Deters Money from Being Invested for Speculative Purposes Mr. G. O. Smith Talks Entertainingly About Real Estate.

A noticeable feature of the building ctivity in Wheeling is that for the most part houses recently erected and now in Mr. W. H. Williams, he clever North Main street druggast, has returned from a summer pleasure trip.
'Squire Win. A. Janes and Joe Heil, of the INTELLIGENCES counting room, are solourning in Chicago.
Miss Georgia Richards has returned course of construction, are to be tenanted by the owners. Comparatively few dwellings are being built for renting, notwithstanding the steady demand for houses at moderate rental. The indis-SUNDAY evening at the regular monthly meeting of the Turner Society, President Nuuge presented the new teacher, Mr. Krogh, to the society. Mr. Krogh delivered a short address.

The new wagon belonging to the Niagra engine company was broken down by being overloaded while in use at the First ward engine house yesterday. The men who might be expected to know a good thing when they see it are free to admit that the solid prosperity and steady growth of Whealing was and spring were broken. restition of means to make investments of this character at a time when safety of principal with certainity of fair return is hard to find, has occasioned no little comment. The explanation given is interesting and suggestive.

Miss Georgia Richards has returned from a week's visit with Miss Annie Leightner, at Harrisville, O.

Mr. George Beck, of St. Louis, is the guest of his mother; Mrs. Elizabeth Beck, of North Main street.

The men who might be expected to the know a good thing when they see it are free to admit that the solid prosperity and steady growth of Wheeling warrant and demand the immediate erection of Mr. large number of medium grade renting houses, and they say that within the city and will be the guest of Mrs. and the manufacture of medium grade renting houses, and they say that within the der next two years would see at least 60 such houses built, if it were not hat the land ford was sure of his rent. Now it has to be collected as an ordinary debt, and in addition to the loss of his rent. Now it has to be collected as an ordinary debt, and in addition to the loss of his rent to may at the way.

The demand for houses which is the supply and here comes in a natural law to put up rents. Now the same class of one may are the laborers, bricklayers, carpenters and all others who, immediately or remotley, are benefitted by activity in the building line. So that the men in whose interest the present condition to the same of capital was made are in fact the men most and play and here comes in a natural law to put up rents. Now the same class of one has the way in the same lay or remotley, are benefitted by activity in the building line. So that the men in whose interest the present condition in the students of the work of the carbon, and the state only the sense of security that makes it conditions that the same of capital are not displaced to put the condition of the public of Assembly hall last night was well attended. Mr. T. B. McGuire gave one of his characteristic talks, and did much to inthuse the brethren.

Cities, and you can see why it is that men of capital are not disposed to put it the very class of houses for which there is no need. This really deprives there is no need. This really deprives the city of its legitimate, normal growth. If the landlord had reasonable security in the law, as he used to have, you would see in Wheeling unprecedented activity in building, and the wage-earners would be largely the gainers. There would be fewer sore-eyes and much less unimproved ground."

While capitalists entertain these views, it is also to be said that they do not look for the change in the law which they think desirable.
